

Welcome Message from the Conference Chair

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the European Wireless 2025 Conference, held this year at EURECOM in Sophia Antipolis, France. European Wireless has established itself as a key forum for researchers, practitioners, and industry experts to exchange ideas and present the latest advances in wireless communications and networking.

This year's conference continues that tradition, bringing together contributions that span theoretical foundations, system design, and experimental validation, with a special emphasis on the role of wireless technologies in enabling future 6G systems. The program reflects the diversity and vitality of our field, offering a rich set of papers, keynotes, and discussions that I am confident will inspire both academic and industrial participants.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to the authors, reviewers, and members of the technical program committee for their hard work and dedication in ensuring the high quality of the conference. I am equally grateful to our organizing team, sponsors, and partners, without whom this event would not have been possible.

On behalf of the organizing committee, I warmly welcome you to Sophia Antipolis. I encourage you to take full advantage of the technical program, engage with your peers, and enjoy both the professional and social opportunities that European Wireless 2025 has to offer.

I wish you a productive and memorable conference.

Florian Kaltenberger Conference Chair, European Wireless 2025
